

EPSOFT Personal Information Protection Policy

12/February/2020

EPSoft ("EP" or "Company") [Product: JetAnywhere, Asian Fonts] prioritizes the protection of user personal information. Company closely observes the related domestic legislations

1. Personal information collection

Company may collect the following personal information for product registration, consultation and service support.

- Required: name, company name, email address, phone number, email address
- Automatic collection: Service history, connection log, connection IP information

2. Usage of collected personal information

Personal information use is strictly limited to the purpose of managing license, development, and providing and enhancing service in relation to Product (JetAnywhere, Asian Fonts) only

3. Provision of Personal Information

Company strongly prohibits the provision of personal information to any 3rd party without the agreement with the user. Company does not provide personal information to any 3rd party without obtaining consent from users. However, personal information may be provided in the limit scope when where the user has personally agreed to such provision in order to use third party-based services.

4. Destruction of personal information

Company strictly destroys personal information immediately when it is the time of the termination/expiration of license and maintenance. However, personal information may be stored safely for a designated period afterward, if company obtains separate consent from the user to store the personal information for a certain period, or if company is required by any law to store the information for a specified period.